In discussing the case he seemed to make the inference stronger by the assertion that he can convince the solicitor that he has been lied to.

When he has finished his investigation he will submit a copy of his report to the solicitor general for the lay-

Senator Jones continued it was imperative that the Senate, before it undertook such action, should be informed as to the interests of the foreign nations in the matter. He pointed out that the resolution only requested information, and the president deemed advisable to give.

"Let's all get busy and clean up Atlanta, and paint up and wash up, for the coming of the Shriners in May," said Mayor Adair, president of Yarnab temple, Thursday.

An entire coughs and wheezes on the sidewalk; long lines of unattended, bicyclists roll up the plank into the rail; little groups of women scattered about here and there about the iron gateways. Rainy weather grinding down the streets.

The "rule of thumb" doesn't command much respect in three days.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Wilson told Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington today that he was "skating on thin ice" in his speech yesterday.

The suggestion catches the ear of the Atlanta. The Journal's megaphone has been down to repeat it through the South. Everybody has heard it from Mr. Adair. "Less than two months remain before the thousands of people who live all parts of the country begin looking us over. We can't afford to make anything but the very best impression on them. Somebody ought to get down to business. Let's get down to business."

newspapers should get in behind it.
The Journal accepts the obligation.
The "clean up and paint up" crusade is on.

Down with dirt, by heck.
"Let's make Atlanta gas shine."
That's the enthusiasm the editorials of his own words. "Let's make about 40,000 visitors think we've got the prettiest, cleanest city in the country."

The hand played gallily even and dogs barked excitedly and laughter flowed freely, though perhaps a little straining. You see, as you know, the women children were going to stay at home must wait through many dreary days for news at least uncertain.

And that was the Southwest, the northwest, but Mr. Wilson turned the conversation to the sensation of themselves.

The president told callers afterward that he could not get a suggestion on the Mexican question out of Sir Lionel with a cogency or interest. The reference was purely for information on the general situation in Mexico. The president said that he had been convinced and decided to read it before he saw selves and who have the ambition that makes workers valuable.

GIRL BLAMES WOMAN FOR CAUSING DOWNFALL

Admits Stealing From Companion, but Says She Taught Her to Drink

Telling a pitiable story of marriage at the early age of fifteen, separation from her husband, allurements by an older woman into becoming her companion, and initiation by her into the life of "fashioning house," a seventeen-year-old girl, in the matron's ward of police headquarters, explained her plight Thursday morning, after admitting she stole money from the woman in Washington, as the police charge her with doing.

Mrs. Gertrude Manicha is the girl's name, she said she married G. M. Manicha in Washington, D. C., two years ago. Right afterward she left him, she said. Last October she was employed by a woman in Washington who she named as Mrs. Helen Thomas as a companion, and then with stronger drink until she was well launched on a protected spree. Mrs. Thomas would not pay her any wage, she said, intimating instead that she had been introduced into generous company and about "five for her."

STIPPED MONEY FROM SKIRT. Finally, said the girl Thursday, in a drunken hour she ripped $700 from the lining of Mrs. Thomas' skirt and left with it. The next she knew she was in New York, she said, still drunk. From there she fled to Los Angeles, then to San Francisco, then back to Nashville, about a week ago she came to Atlanta, she was arrested Wednesday night at 45 Pulliam street. The local police have been watching the house since they were notified by the Washington authorities that she might appear there. They say it is the home of close relatives of the girl.

"I took the money just like I said," admitted Mrs. Manicha Thursday. "Now I want to go on back to Washington and be tried for it. They won't have to get out any papers or whatever it is they usually have to sign. I'll go with, or any of that."

The girl says her uncle lives in Washington and she looks to him for help. She says he is a member of a benevolent secret order.

PLAYERS' CLUB BEGINS WORK ON "THE GENIUS"

Rehearsals Start for Play to Be Presented at Grand Theater

Members of the Players' club have begun rehearsals for their second presentation of "The Genius" at the Grand theater March 21. The production will be for the benefit of the charity fund of Atlanta lodge, No. 74, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The success of "The Genius," when it was played recently by a capable cast of Players' club members, will be at least repeated and very probably surpassed in this second production. The same cast of society folk who appeared in it before will enact all the characters of the play. The only difference will be that the stage settings will be more elaborate.

All the members of Atlanta lodge, No. 74, are interested in the event and are working for its success. Exalted Ruler A. L. Dunn and other leaders of the lodge are directing details which seem to insure one of the largest audiences that ever has greeted the Players' club. Ladies of local Elks lodge are assisting in a number of the arrangements.

The Dangerous Business of Being a Baby

The tiny bodies menaced by dirty dairies, by sick cows, by disease; one baby out of six—last year—dies. But the danger grows less—Doctors and mothers have learned how to keep our babies safe. Mothers now know that their baby's food is of most importance—of the dangers for little babies in cows' milk—that the Government inspectors found only eight clean dairies in every hundred and that in one State alone—under strict laws—there are 200,000 sick cows. Mothers now know that even when cow's milk is pure it is too heavy in curd for little babies.

Nestlé's Food

Is nearer to mother's milk than any other food. In NESTLÉ'S the curd of the milk is soft and fleecy as in mother's milk. The best cows' milk in the best of NESTLÉ'S milk is the basis of NESTLÉ'S milk. The milk from clean, healthy cows, is carefully inspected dairies. Women Are Wildly Enthusiastic Over the Living Model Demonstration of the Bon Ton Corsets
The Exhibit justifies the Praise Bestowed Upon It by the New York Doctors & Fashionable Modistes
The Performance Is Staged
upon our spacious Fourth Floor, where we have built a miniature stage, with footlights, curtains and drops. Seating arrangements provide for the comfort of spectators.

Mrs. Taylor and her living models repeat in detail the performance as given in New York. The living models display corsets for slender, medium or full figures—every woman in the audience sees almost instantly the kind of corset she should wear. Mrs. Taylor lectures on the beauty, science and comfort of modern corseting, and shows how wrong tendencies may be corrected and defects of carriage remedied.

The Performance Will Be Repeated Friday & Saturday:
10:30 to 12:30 A. M.; 3:30 to 5:30 P. M.
Admission—by card, which may be obtained from any floor manager, at the credit stand or corset department.

A New Silk Shirting at 50c
—Designs of original freshness and charm that will stay until tubbing. The fabric is silk and cotton, the beauty of one wedded to the serviceability of the other. Black or colored stripes on white grounds, the whole beautified by brocade patterns. Wonderfully attractive for shirts and waists. 32 in. 50c.

Striped Crepe Ratine 50c
—One of the cleverest wash fabrics we've seen this season. A firm crepe weave in the rough, tousled ratine effect. White grounds with black or colored pin stripes. 40 in. 50c. (Wash Goods, Main Floor, Left.)

Clearaway of Ladies' 50c & 75c Neckwear 19c
—Three hundred and fifty pieces of neckwear have their prices humbled from 50c and 75c to 19c. Though most of them are fresh, they represent the last of broken lines. Other pieces are mused and counter tossed. In all there are floras, jacks, Duncans, yokes and fancy stocks. Choice 19c.

Charming Val Laces Values Up to 25c at 6c
—Val laces of exquisite charm. Pretty round thread Calais Vals so much in vogue for rufflings on dresses. Splendid also for trimming children's frocks and lingerie. Upwards of 1,000 yards in all, in edges and insertions from 1½ to 4 inches wide. Not a yard worth less than 10c; some worth 25c; most of it worth from 12½c, 15c and 20c. Choice 6c. (Laces, Main Floor, Right.)

$1.25 & $1.50 Kimonos at $1.19
The soft, graceful kimonos that one likes for Spring and Summer wear. Made of a soft, crinkled crepe, that requires no ironing. Solid colors with floral borders, pretty flower and spray designs, Japanese and Oriental patterns. Some straight styles, but chiefly Empire model, with sleeves set in with pipings.

Our Popular Bungalow Apron 50c
The materials have something to do with their popularity—light colored percales in neat designs and apron check ginghams. The making adds to their merit—each sitch and button in just right. Trimmed neatly, too, on neck, cuffs and pocket with rick-rack braid. But best of all is their fullness, they cover one's dress and fit as they should. At 50c, they're the best aprons we know. (Aprons, Second Floor.)

3 months' Guaranteed Hole-proof Silk Hose 3 Pairs $3

OUR service extends beyond the mere assembling of apparel for juniors—any shop can do that. But to select the one coat, suit or dress that is strikingly individual calls for the art of a specialist. As specialists in junior and girls' smart apparel we focus attention on these new arrivals.

What Kind of Coat Will You Choose for Your Girl?

WE'RE free to ask the question, for we have the right answer—in fact, dozens of answers. There are conventional shepherd plaids and swagger checks from Scotland. Tweeds are here, and crepes; sturdy serges and cords. Balmain materials for the new English coats are a novelty, as also are the new gabardines. Coats are loose fitting, with novelty collar effects and flanges and flounces. Plain styles, also. Black, colors and novelties. All sizes 2 to 17, $5 to $20.

New Spring Suits with Graceful Girlish Lines

Juniors 13, 15 and 17 and small women can choose from a highly specialized showing of clever styles. Short coats deliciously frilly, lead, though somewhat severe styles also sell freely. Short coats, of course, call for bouffant draperies, tier skirts and bustle effects. Suits are in black and colors. $14.95 to $30.

$4 Silk Petticoats $2.95

The material is a soft, clinging Jersey that fits like another skin. Finished with messaline accordion pleated flounce. Black and about every finished shade. (Ready-to-Wear, Second Floor.)

French Dolls A Pretty Conceit for Card Prizes or Favors
—Dolls stand six inches high. Dressed in silk pompadour fashion around a cardboard base which is used for a pin cushion. China bust and face. 50c.

50c Stationery 29c Linen Finish With Rich Gold Initial
—The firm paper crackles and rustles like a real linen. Deep body that imparts character to one's correspondence. Richly embossed with gold initial in Old English script. 24 sheets of paper or 24 cards with envelopes to match, in neat brown box. 50c value for 29c. By mail 6c extra. (Main Floor, Center.)

$1 Calfskin 49c Work Bags 98c
—Genuine leather calfskin work bags with draw string handles and fitted with scissors, thimble, needle and threads. Brown or tan.

2 Braid Pins 25c
—Shell, amber or aluminum braid pins, set with first quality brilliants. 15c each; 2 for 25c.

Grafonola as shown $50, cabinet extra

Special Grand Opera Programme on Friday Afternoon from 4 to 5

Our Friday afternoon concerts grow more popular with each performance. $500 Grafonola Grand is used. Seats and comfort for all who attend. By request we have arranged a special Grand Opera programme, but any other selection will be played upon request. Friday afternoon, from 4 to 5 p. m. (Third Floor, Near Rest Room.)

We Can't Afford to Sell This Union Suit at 50c, So We Turn 'Em Out at 42c

—We contracted for this union suit late last Fall to retail at 50c. Now the maker raises the price—says the garment's too good for the money. Be that as it may; we know we can't re-order, so we'll close out the stock on hand at 42c.

—Suits are made of sheer gauze like Low neck and sleeveless, with light lace or shell lace. All sizes in 4, 5 and 6. (Main Floor, Right.)

35c to 45c Silk 23c Ribbons

—Three yards of ribbons for the usual price of two; two yards for the price of one—that's the good ribbon news for tomorrow. All kinds of ribbons are represented.

—Laces in white, pink and light blue.

—Suits in white, lilac, mauve, Copenhagen.

—Light and dark floral effects and warp prints.

—Roman stripes and plaids, gay as a rainbow.

—Widths are 5 and 6 inches. Choice 23c. (Main Floor, Right.)

JOURNAL OF COMMERCIAL LETTERS

LETTERS OF DISSENT
INCREASE IN NUMBER

From All Sections of Country
Come Letters Commending
Journal Editorial

There seems to be no let-up in the steady flow of letters endorsing the Journal's editorial declaration that "Frank should have a new trial." Instead of diminishing in number, those letters are on the increase. Every mail brings the Journal dozens of commendatory letters. They come from all sections of the country, the majority of the authors being citizens of Atlanta and Georgia.

A few more of these letters follow:
FROM J. C. LOGAN.
Joseph C. Logan, secretary of the Atlanta Associated Charities, writes as follows:

Editor Journal, City.
Your editorial urging a new trial for Frank is to be commended from every standpoint.

We do not readily confess when we lose control of our normal processes of thought; though often, when mystery is deep and feeling is high, our thinking drifts into uncontrolled and inevitably as would our bodies in the swift current of Niagara.

Says a great physician and a great student of men, Richard C. Cabot: "Crowd-contagion is headless and blind. It leads to anarchy or to murder. It exalts or destroys a man or an institution, with as little intention as an earthquake or a drought."
When the course of events a judgment is concluded under such circumstances let us frankly confess that we ought not to be at sea upon it where a human life is involved.

J. C. LOGAN.

FROM E. W. COLEMAN.
E. W. Coleman, attorney of Canton, says in part:

March 17, 1914.
Editor Journal: I want to thank you and approve your course set out in your editorial on granting a new trial to a new trial. I am now approving your course, and will say he thought Frank guilty, but I think he should have a new trial. Nearly every one who thinks it a bad precedent to convict a man and execute him on the testimony of a negro like Coleman.

Very truly yours,
E. W. COLEMAN.

FROM W. P. THOMAS.
Walter P. Thomas, superintendent of public schools of West Point, writes:

West Point, March 17, 1914.
Hon. James H. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal.

Atlanta, Ga.
Dear sir—Let me commend your strong editorial of recent date, in which you state that the state of Georgia should not afford to let this man hang like Judge Roan. It cannot say whether he is guilty or innocent, but I do know that he could not possibly have had a fair trial, at the time he was tried, when the public was demanding a victim not only to atone for the murder of Mary Phagan, but for the great number of undiscovered crimes committed in Atlanta.

Very truly yours,
WALTER P. THOMAS.

FROM M. L. COVINGTON.
M. L. Covington, parole officer at the Atlanta Federal prison, expresses himself as follows:

Atlanta, Ga., March 18, 1914.
Editor Journal: I desire to most heartily commend your editorial of recent date relative to the case of the state of Georgia against Leo M. Frank. It required no little courage upon the part of the management to take such a position.

I have been engaged in the prosecution of crime and in the handling of criminals for more than ten years and I have never before known or heard of a case being tried under such conditions and the verdict allowed to stand. I do not wish to be understood as criticizing the courts for it has ever been my pleasure to honor the courts and all those engaged in the administration of the law, but I must say that at the time this case was tried it was an impossibility to correctly weigh testimony in order to arrive at the truth. It would, I think, be fair upon the part of anyone to insist that this feeling did not enter the court room, and even pass through the keyhole into the jury room.

Whatever our mental attitude as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, we cannot deny to him the right of a fair and impartial trial. The distinguished gentlemen representing the commonwealth cannot, I think in good conscience, insist that he had such a trial. Those who believe honestly in the guilt of the accused should also believe in a trial free from an atmosphere of violence.

Let the defendant be given a new trial and the state of Georgia saved the disgrace of monthly shedding innocent blood.

Your friend,
M. L. COVINGTON.

FROM A. H. BAILEY.
A. H. Bailey, of the Elvira-Auntell company, Atlanta, writes the following letter:

Atlanta, Ga., March 17, 1914.
Mr. James H. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal,
City.

My Dear Sir:
While I have no interest in the Frank case, outside the interest that every man has in fair play, I wish to thank you for your editorial of last Wednesday on the subject.

Such things as an atmosphere charged with public wrath must be too intangible for the supreme court to consider, but there is no doubt of their effectiveness on a jury, nevertheless. Under the conditions which existed during the trial, with public sentiment worked up to a fever heat, and not having had a fair trial in Atlanta, and I am sure that if a court had been convened in a locality where prejudice had not been excited as it was here.

Permit me to say that I have always believed that the minority of the Journal's editorial expressions, and I have been in the same line, that if you would personally investigate this case, you would feel so strongly on the subject, that you would take a firm position, as you now have.

I believe every fair minded citizen who considers the facts and not the chatter about this case will be gratified by your stand.

Yours very truly,
A. H. BAILEY.

FROM L. C. DICKSON.
Lester C. Dickson, attorney of Fayetteville, Ga., writes:

Fayetteville, Ga., March 16, 1914.
Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: I wish to commend you for your fair and brave editorial on the Frank case in your issue of March 10th. Your position is well taken. You deal with this case in a frank and impartial manner, and show that you are taking this position from no selfish motive, and only that justice must be done. It is vitally important that every man tried should have a fair and impartial trial, and that no man should be tried at a time when the public mind is inflamed against him. It is at such times as this that the "defendant" against whom such prejudices exist can have an impartial trial. It is this man's right, and let him suffer the full penalty of the law, but let him have a chance to show a jury that he is not guilty of the offense charged against him. I think your editorial was logical, fair and manly.

Respectfully,
LESTER C. DICKSON.

FROM A. O. MURPHY.
A. O. Murphy, attorney of Barnesville, Ga., expresses himself as follows:

Barnesville, Ga.
Editor Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
I like 95 per cent of the citizens of Georgia, know nothing of the

tion of the law, but I must say that at the time this case was tried the public mind was so inflamed that it was an impossibility to correctly weigh testimony in order to arrive at the truth. It would, I think, be fair upon the part of anyone to insist that this feeling did not enter the court room, and even pass through the keyhole into the jury room.

Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: I wish to commend you for your fair and brave editorial on the Frank case in your issue of March 10th. Your position is well taken. You deal with this case in a frank and impartial manner, and show that you are taking this position from no selfish motive, and only that justice must be done. It is vitally important that every man tried should have a fair and impartial trial, and that no man should be tried at a time when the public mind is inflamed against him. It is at such times as this that the "defendant" against whom such prejudices exist can have an impartial trial. It is this man's right, and let him suffer the full penalty of the law, but let him have a chance to show a jury that he is not guilty of the offense charged against him. I think your editorial was logical, fair and manly.

Respectfully,
LESTER C. DICKSON.

Editor Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
I like 95 per cent of the citizens of Georgia, know nothing of the

tion of the law, but I must say that at the time this case was tried the public mind was so inflamed that it was an impossibility to correctly weigh testimony in order to arrive at the truth. It would, I think, be fair upon the part of anyone to insist that this feeling did not enter the court room, and even pass through the keyhole into the jury room.

Whatever our mental attitude as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, we cannot deny to him the right of a fair and impartial trial. The distinguished gentlemen representing the commonwealth cannot, I think in good conscience, insist that he had such a trial. Those who believe honestly in the guilt of the accused should also believe in a trial free from an atmosphere of violence.

Let the defendant be given a new trial and the state of Georgia saved the disgrace of monthly shedding innocent blood.

My Dear Sir:
While I have no interest in the Frank case, outside the interest that every man has in fair play, I wish to thank you for your editorial of last Wednesday on the subject.

Such things as an atmosphere charged with public wrath must be too intangible for the supreme court to consider, but there is no doubt of their effectiveness on a jury, nevertheless. Under the conditions which existed during the trial, with public sentiment worked up to a fever heat, and not having had a fair trial in Atlanta, and I am sure that if a court had been convened in a locality where prejudice had not been excited as it was here.

Permit me to say that I have always believed that the minority of the Journal's editorial expressions, and I have been in the same line, that if you would personally investigate this case, you would feel so strongly on the subject, that you would take a firm position, as you now have.

I believe every fair minded citizen who considers the facts and not the chatter about this case will be gratified by your stand.

Yours very truly,
A. H. BAILEY.

Raymund Daniel Selected Editor Valdosta Times

RAYMUND DANIEL.

Former Member of Journal Staff Takes Helm of One of South Georgia's Most Influential Dailies

In the news staff of Raymund Daniel of the Journal staff for several years past, has been selected as editor of the Valdosta Times and will assume his new charge next week the numerous friends of that active young newspaper man will take much interest, for, in addition to marking an enlargement in his personal fortunes, it means his assignment to an important part in the political life of the state and the progress of south Georgia. The Valdosta Times has been for years one of the most influential papers of its size in the south. By his experience with The Journal, Mr. Daniel is qualified well for his new duties at the helm of the Times. He was a trained news distributor even before he joined The Journal staff, having served for several years in the country at large with the Associated Press service.

In the editorship of the Times Mr. Daniel will succeed C. C. Brantley, for nineteen years head of that paper, who recently accepted new association with the Macon Telegraph. He will have under his direction an eight-page daily and semi-weekly publication of wide circulation, served by numerous correspondents and the Associated Press.

Mr. Daniel's removal to Valdosta will mean a further acquisition to the social life of that city, for Mrs. Daniel will accompany him and they will make their permanent home there. Mrs. Daniel is the daughter of Judge George T. Bell, of the superior court of Fulton county. She was Miss Jennie Sue Bell before her marriage to Mr. Daniel only a few months ago.

An interesting fact in connection with this is that in his new location Mr. Daniel will be separated by less than twenty miles from his brother, Royal Daniel, owner and editor of the Quitman Free Press. The Free Press editor also was formerly a member of "The Journal staff."

RUSH WORK ON HOME FOR WAYWARD GIRLS

Institution Will Be Ready for Occupancy in Three or Four Weeks

With the taking over from Fulton county by the state of Georgia of the home for wayward girls, to be located on the Pace's Ferry road, near Atlanta, work is being rushed on the home and, according to those in charge, it will be ready for occupancy by such girls as are sent there by the courts within three or four weeks.

MAN POOLED SENSELESS IN POOL ROOM FIGHT

Excitement was caused in the Aragon hotel poolroom Wednesday night when C. E. Maddox, manager of the place, struck W. E. Guest, a traveling salesman, of Rome, Ga., over the head with a billiard cue. Guest was knocked unconscious and was attended by the house physician. Maddox stated the fight started when he refused to inform a check of Guest's. Cases were made against the combatants and they will appear before Recorder Broyles Thursday afternoon.

RISINGS, ITCHING HUMORS

Smith's Blood Syrup Best for Weak or Thin Blood, or if Blood Is All Upset—Best for All Blood Humors

High living or hard work weakens the blood, gives rise to itching humors, eczema, rashes, eating sores, boils, ulcers, bone pains, swellings and we feel all played out and worried. We have had breath and spots before the eyes, hands and feet tremble and we feel weak; can't stand hard work. Soon your blood will be above or have aching bones or any blood humors, get a bottle of Smith's Blood and Liver Syrup from any reliable druggist. Take a spoonful in a glass of water three times a day, or retiring. Also eat plenty of nourishing food. Soon your blood will be pure and rich, and your skin takes on the rich, red glow of perfect health and your body is changed into a clean, healthy condition. Aches and pains and itching stop. All sores are healed. Smith's Blood and Liver Syrup has been used for generations to purify the blood. It is made from an old Indian formula and is sent in quart bottles for only $1.00, or will be sent express postpaid by John B. Daniel, Walnut St., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv't.)

In response of criticisms of the chamber of commerce for the failure to make public the report on the schools following a survey made by the Russell Sage Foundation, Robert L. Foreman, chairman of the survey committee, stated Wednesday that the report is not yet complete.

"When the report is finished," said Mr. Foreman, "it will be given to the public as the object of having the survey made was to secure impartial information, and then to make widely known the result of the survey."

Mell R. Wilkinson, president of the chamber of commerce, also gave out an interview in which he said that the members of the board of education had an incorrect impression of the chamber's attitude in regard to the report.

RESULTS OF COLDS

To Neglect a Cold in the Beginning is to Run a Pretty Big Risk

When the Liver Gets Lazy the Blood Thickens and the System Becomes Easily Susceptible to Cold and Disease.

A cold is directly traceable to an inactive liver. The liver finds its efforts overtaxed and food remains in the stomach or bowels. The head gets hot, the feet cold and the bowels constipated. Right then and there is the danger point. The bowels must be kept open. The system must be relieved of congestion.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is the greatest known relief. It is better than calomel. It will rejuvenate the liver, and the blood racing through the veins. Give it a trial. You will feel as if life is worth living.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT acts quickly and mildly, and never gives rise to nausea. Don't take an inferior substitute. Some imitators make other preparations upon which they make large profits, often similar in name, but very different in action. JACOBS' LIVER SALT is 25c for a large jar at druggists, or sent by mail (postpaid). (Jacobs' Pharmacy.—Adv't.)

CITY OF COLUMBUS SOON TO BE REDISTRICTED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) COLUMBUS, Ga., March 18.—The city of Columbus is to be redistricted at an early date, all ward lines being changed so as to give better representation in the city council to parties on Rose Hill and other sections where the districts are thickly settled. If the movement set on foot by the Civic Improvement league last night pans out.

A general change in the city ward districts is proposed, and it is stated that a number of the city councilmen favor the proposed plan. The matter will come up at the next regular meeting of the city council.

FULTON PROGRESSIVES WANT STATE TICKET

Resolutions Adopted Urging Full Ticket in State Election

The members of the Progressive party of Fulton county at a meeting held in the Kimball house Wednesday night adopted resolutions in favor of putting a complete Progressive ticket "from senators to halliffs," before the voters of Georgia in the election next summer. The names of Seaborn Wright, the celebrated prohibition leader of Rome, and Harry Stillwell Edwards, former Republican postmaster at Macon, were mentioned in connection with the anti-slavery ticket.

A La Vida Corset Fitted by Mrs. Marvin---

"A consummation devoutly to be wished"
The makers of La Vida corsets have succeeded admirably this season. They have made splendid corsets, corsets that reflect, that typify the new figure of graceful flowing lines. They have made such corsets of beautiful fabrics--usually imported--they have trimmed them with dainty laces and embroideries and passmenteries, but still the corset in itself is not what we would urge upon you.

But it is one of these supple La Vida models fitted to you by such a corset woman as Mrs. Marvin! Therein lies the comfort, the satisfaction and the style by which we would have you remember this corset section.

We say we have a La Vida for every figure, nor are we speaking figuratively but very personally--if we may--a La Vida for you that may be a very different corset from the La Vida for another woman. And Saturday brings to an end Mrs. Marvin's visit.

Will You Try On Your New Suit Today?

Announcing Spring Suits is one of our new season duties. There are times when duties and pleasures agree. This is one.

Particularly is it a pleasurable duty to dwell on the strong points of the New Spring Suits--the exquisitely moulded English lines, the large and broad lapels opening over the 2-button fastening and the high cut waistcoat, very English.

Models are single or double-breasted, colors are gray and blue for favorite.

And then it is a double pleasure to show the new suits, to demonstrate the very great becomingness of the suit that is exactly suited to you.

Will you try it on today?

Supper Dance for Wedding Party

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bishop Davis, of Chattanooga, Tenn., entertained at a supper dance, Wednesday evening, at the Stanley Hotel, in compliment to Miss Margaret MacKinnon and Mr. Robert Davis, whose marriage will be an interesting event of Thursday evening.

Two long tables were placed in the ballroom and at the one at which were seated the unmarried couples, the center decoration was a mound of pink roses and ferns, and at the other table, where the married guests were seated, the centerpiece was of bride's roses and similar.

Pink roses and festoons of southern azalea formed an artistic decoration of the ballroom.

The place cards were handpainted orange blossoms, and each guest was presented with a bisque slipper holding a tiny cup.

Dancing was enjoyed between the courses of the dinner.

Mrs. Davis was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of princess lace. Mrs. Barnes, the bride's mother, wore a becoming toilet of white crepe, meteor trim in real lace and white ribbon, and was of pink roses and valley lilies. Miss MacKinnon was attractive in pale green, and the married guests wore costumes of various shades of pink, with corsage of Richmond roses and gardenias.

The guests of the occasion were Miss MacKinnon—Miss Elizabeth Dunson, Miss Gladys Dunson, Miss Emmie Williams, Miss Majorie Barnes, Mrs. Ben Blalock, Miss Chipman, of New York City; Miss Ferial Humphries, Dr. Mrs. W. L. Barnes, Mrs. W. L. Barnes, George Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady, of New York City; Mrs. Donald Hurst, of Chattanooga; Mr. Robert Davis, Henry Grady, and Dr. John Allen Gentry, of Chattanooga; Mr. George F. Augusta, of New York City; Mr. Earnest Leonard, and Mrs. Donald MacKinnon.

Benefit for Home for the Friendless Postponed

The benefit planned for the Home for the Friendless, which was to have been given Thursday evening, has been postponed until a later date.

Many plans are being formed to make the benefit a bright and happy one, and the little inmates, the dates for which will be announced later.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. W. T. EDMONDSON.
The body of Mrs. William Thomas Edmondson, who died Wednesday afternoon at a private sanitarium, was sent to Atlanta for funeral and interment. Mrs. Edmondson has many friends in Atlanta who are grieved because of her death. She is survived by her husband, Mr. W. T. Edmondson, and three daughters, Mrs. J. H. and W. T. Edmondson, of Aniston, and three daughters, Mrs. C. V. Baldwin, of Atlanta; Mrs. J. H. Sawyer, of Tallahassee, Ala.; and Miss Martha Edmondson, of Aniston.

EFFIE DODSON.
Effie Dodson, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Dodson, died Thursday morning at 1 o'clock at a private sanitarium. She is survived by her parents; by two brothers, Joe and Will; and by one sister, Mrs. W. A. Jennings. Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Piedmont Memorial church, and the body will be taken Friday morning to Stockbridge, Ga., for interment.

MRS. HIRSHBERG'S FUNERAL.
The funeral of Mrs. Louis Hirschberg, who died Wednesday afternoon at her residence, 49 Windsor street, will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the residence. Mr. Hirschberg will officiate, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery. Mrs. Hirschberg was a member of the Hirschberg company, wholesale stationery. He has been ill for several weeks. He is survived by two brothers, William and Isaac Hirschberg.

MRS. LOWRY'S FUNERAL.
The funeral of Mrs. J. W. Lowry, who died Thursday morning at 11 o'clock Thursday morning from the residence, 211 Apple street, interment will be at Mayson's chapel.

MRS. HOLLEY'S FUNERAL.
The funeral of Mrs. J. F. Holley, who died Tuesday night, will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. John's Methodist church. Interment will be at West View cemetery.

MRS. H. B. LONG.
The funeral of Mrs. H. B. Long, who died Wednesday at a private sanitarium, was held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock from the Peachtree church. Interment was in the church yard.

C/B A La Spirite Corsets

The Paradox of the "Corsetless" Figure

ISN'T it strange, when you stop to think, that the "corsetless" figure means after all only wearing the right corset?

The right corset for you is a certain corset which is designed especially to mould your figure into simple, natural, graceful, youthful lines.

That corset is one of the 240 different C/B models—"one for every type of woman."

Have your new spring gowns fitted over this corset. Their effect will please you more than any gowns you have ever had.

The leading stores are showing the new season's C/Bs—handsome in their simple design and beautiful in their materials. You will be interested in the C/B novelties, such as the "Dancing" models. The better dealers all sell C/B Corsets. Prices $1 to $10. Ask to see your C/B at your favorite store today.

TELEPHONE ACHIEVEMENTS

TELEPHONE SERVICE OF TODAY THE CREATION OF THE BELL CO.

In no line of human endeavor has the inventive brain of the scientist contributed more to the world's progress than by the creation of the art of telephony, of which the Bell System is the embodiment.

When the telephone was born, nothing analogous to telephone service as we now know it existed. There was no tradition to guide, no experience to follow.

The system, the apparatus, the methods—an entire new art had to be created. The art of electrical engineering did not exist. The Bell pioneers, recognizing that success depended upon the highest engineering and technical skill, at once organized an experimental and research department, which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post-graduate students, scientific investigators—the graduates of over 70 universities.

From its foundation the company has continuously developed the art. New improvements in telephones, switchboards, lines, cables, have followed one another with remarkable rapidity.

While each successive type of apparatus to the superficial observer suggested similarity, each step in the evolution marked a decided improvement.

These changes, this evolution, have not only been continuous, but are continuing. Substantially all of the plant now in use, including telephones, switchboards, cables and wires, has been constructed, renewed or reconstructed in the past 10 years.

Particularly in switchboards have the changes been so radical that installations costing in the aggregate millions have frequently been discarded after only a few years of use.

Since 1877 there have been introduced 53 types and styles of receivers and 73 types and styles of transmitters. Of the 12,000,000 telephone receivers and transmitters owned by the Bell Company January 1, 1914, none were in use prior to 1902, while the average age is less than five years.

Within 10 years we have expended for construction and reconstruction an amount more than equal to the present book value of our entire plant.

Long-distance and underground transmission was the most formidable scientific problem confronting the telephone experts.

The retarding effect of the earth on the telephone current often impaired conversation through one mile underground as much as through 100 miles overhead. Overhead conversation had its distinct limitations.

No possible improvement in the telephone transmitter could of itself solve these difficulties.

The solution was only found in the cumulative effect of improvements: great and small in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

While the limit of commercial overhead talking had increased from strictly local to over 1,000 miles as early as 1893, it was not until 1905 that conversation could be had over long-distance circuits.

cuits of which as much as 30 miles was in underground cables. By 1906 underground talking distance had increased to 90 miles. By 1912 it was possible to talk underground from New York to Washington.

It was then that the construction of underground conduits from Boston to Washington was determined upon—not that it was expected to get a through underground talk between those places, but in case of storm or blizzard, to utilize intermediate sections in connection with the overhead.

Our persistent study and incessant experimentation have produced records more remarkable still.

We have perfected cables, apparatus and methods that have overcome obstacles heretofore regarded as insuperable both to long-distance overhead and underground conversation.

Underground conversation is now possible between Boston and Washington, four times the length of the longest European underground line. This enabled the Bell System in the recent great storm, so destructive on land and sea, to maintain communication for the public between all the principal points on the Atlantic seaboard.

Telephone communication is established between New York and Denver, is potentially possible between all points in the United States, and by 1915 will be an accomplished fact between New York and San Francisco.

In our use of methods of apparatus, we are committed to no one system. We own, control or have the right to use inventions necessary to operate any system recognized or accepted as the most efficient. The Bell System must always recognize, and in its selection must always be governed by the necessities of a national service, with its complex requirements, which is infinitely more exacting than local or limited service.

These achievements represent vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort which has been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. No local company unaided could bear the financial or scientific burden of this work. Such results are possible only through a centralized general staff, avoiding wasteful duplication of effort, working out problems common to all for the benefit of all.

The pioneers of the Bell System recognize that telephone service as they saw it, was the broadest sense a public utility that upon them rested a public obligation to give the best possible service at the most reasonable rates consistent with risk, investment and the continued improvement and maintenance of the property.

Without this expenditure of millions and concentration of effort, the telephone art as it exists could not have been developed.

What we have done in working out these great problems in the past should be accepted as a guarantee of what we will do in the future.
